Dear Kelly,

I hope this message finds you well. I am reaching out with a humble request for support and intervention from MP Kelly DeRidder's office regarding my family's Startup Visa Permanent Residency (PR) application, which has faced extraordinary delays, despite our full compliance, economic contributions, and continued commitment to Canada.

Background: Our Process

- PR Application submitted: August 16, 2022
- AOR (Acknowledgment of Receipt): March 14, 2024
- Medical and ADRs: Requested and fulfilled in March and June 2024
- Current status: Eligibility still in progress; final decision pending for over 33 months and 26 days

In parallel, we applied for and received multiple temporary permits, including

- CWP (for myself), OWP (for my wife Sandra), and SP (for my daughter Isabela), all approved in November 2022
- Visa extensions submitted on December 13, 2023 and approved on June 4, 2024 for: CWP + OWP + SP
- Recent applications:
  - 2 x OWP extensions (Olavo and Sandra) – applied March 26, 2025
  - Visitor Visa for Guilherme – applied May 20, 2025
  - Visitor Visa for Isabela – applied June 10, 2025

We have been living in Kitchener-ON, since we arrived in Canada, and we are fully integrated into the community.

Family Integration & Community Contribution

- Sandra, my wife, is fully integrated and contributes actively to the community. She works full-time with the Woodhouse Group as a Contents Technician, managing teams that assist local families and businesses in recovering from disasters such as water and fire damage.
- Isabela, our daughter, recently completed her high school education at Resurrection Catholic Secondary School + St. Louis and has volunteered with YMCA. Her dream is to pursue a career in healthcare, but the uncertainty in our status is limiting her ability to begin her college journey in Canada.
- Guilherme, our son, remains in Brazil waiting for the opportunity to reunite with us and begin a post-graduate program in Canada.

Business Contributions and Obstacles

I am the founder of Bringfy Delivery Inc., a Canadian logistics and technology company connected to e-Carreto, a successful delivery platform in Brazil, where I also serve as CTO and co-creator. Our Designated Organization (DO) is Ontario Tech University.
Additionally, I am the founder of Agência Dix and Probase, two established Brazilian tech firms that are ready to offer services and investment in Canada, and two other Startups, Fotic and DeliveryIt, that I am also thinking of bringing to Canada.

Despite this entrepreneurial experience and support from a designated organization, we continue to face:

- Severe investor uncertainty — we nearly lost our Brazilian investors due to the unexplained delays.
- Credibility issues for our company in Brazil — the PR limbo has undermined trust across international operations.
- Basic operational barriers — we were rejected by multiple Canadian banks before finally opening a business account.
- Missed opportunities — our lack of PR excludes us from most grants, programs, and public initiatives aimed at startups.

- Co-founder, Priscila, has already applied for PR and is also waiting to come to Canada.

We are ready and willing to create jobs, pay taxes, and deliver innovative tech solutions — but immigration processing is preventing all of this from materializing.

Personal Commitment to Canada

As an entrepreneur with over 25 years of experience, I've made significant efforts to build a future here, transitioning my personal and professional life to Canada in good faith. I believed in the promise of the Startup Visa Program and Canada's openness to innovation and entrepreneurship. But after preparing for years, aligning my businesses, relocating my family, and contributing on multiple fronts, we find ourselves in a frustrating state of uncertainty and exclusion.

Timeline Concerns

- When we applied: 16–18 months processing time
- Today: 43 months officially, even longer in practice

We have ordered two GCMS notes

- First (received April 2025): eligibility in progress
- Second: pending for over a month

No updates received since August 2024.

Legal Options

Our representative, Terry Ferreira, has advised that Mandamus is viable. We are still hoping to resolve this through normal channels.

Request for Help

We respectfully ask MP Kelly DeRidder's office to:
1. Request an update from IRCC
2. Support escalation or prioritization
3. Help ensure our fully documented case is reviewed
